Saltori Structured Thinking Taken Seriously by 140 Nations

Angela Jones July 07, 2017

structured thinking system

A futuristic self help system by personal development guru Andy Shaw has become a global phenomenon according to positive reviews flooding in from 140 nations.

(Newswire.net -- July 7, 2017) Henfield, West Sussex -- Mental health problems in the twenty-first century have been the subject of headlines world-wide, as financial pressures make it more difficult for people to attain overall joy and serenity in their busy lives.

After ending up as a victim himself to bankruptcy in 2010, world-renowned personal development specialist Andy Shaw used structured thinking to turn his own life around on its head. His successes persuaded him to dedicate his life to teaching his newly-developed Saltori mindset to the whole world, with seemingly incredible outcomes.

Speaking in a press interview, Shaw's representative Peter Halm explained: "The world is struggling more than ever, and we all have to discover how to let go, relax and simply focus on ensuring we are the very best possible variation of ourselves. Andy gets floods of e-mails daily saying just how much he has been helping different people to turn their lives around, from 100+ countries and from all walks of life. Whether it's individuals who have been let down in previous relationships, or individuals who are falling apart under pressures at work, Andy's yet to hear from anybody who's tried his system out and failed to get a positive outcome."

Shaw's teachings can be found on his website in bite-sized written chapters, videos and short articles as part of his Saltori thinking system, and particularly developed to be built effortlessly into a person's life , while producing maximum effects. Shaw has been teaching his followers the best ways to take advantage of their mindset to understand precisely where any hurt is coming from, whilst training them to see the favorable elements of any real life scenario.

Testimonials have actually flooded Shaw's website in recent months, coming from 140 nations worldwide , including that of W.M from Scotland who described the procedure as: "Something entering your life that resists all logic, at exactly the right time, exactly the right place, and exactly when required," whilst P.W from Iowa, US states: "My anxiety levels have gone way down since using the Saltori thinking process, and rather than making the exact same errors over and over again, I am totally in control of my own mind, and my own life course".

More testimonials, insight and positive comments can be found on Andy Shaw's site, www.saltori.com, where readers can also download free personal development audio books , including chapters of his best seller book " A Bug Free Mind".

About Look Like Fred Ltd "A Bug Free Mind" Saltori®

Andy Shaw - The Saltori® structured thinking system currently has followers coming from 140 countries. The purpose of Saltori thinking is to provide happiness, freedom from pain, and certain success to the world, one mind at a time.

Look Like Fred Ltd "A Bug Free Mind" Saltori®

PO Box 2586
Henfield, West Sussex BN5 0DQ
United Kingdom
+44 07546277858
pete@abfm.co
http://www.saltori.com
Source: http://newswire.net/newsroom/pr/00097059-structured-thinking-system.html