

Best Online MBA Programs in Canada in 2019

The Webs Time December 30, 2018

The students who have mastered the study of business are awarded with a postgraduate degree known as MBA (Master of Business Administration).

(Newswire.net -- December 30, 2018) -- The students who have mastered the study of business are awarded with a postgraduate degree known as MBA (Master of Business Administration). The degree of MBA is considered one of the most prestigious degrees in the world and a lot of employers prefer candidates having this degree. This degree takes about two years to complete and there are various specializations available in this program. Students taking this course gain important knowledge and valuable experience within the fields of management and business, and easily find a job due to their enhanced proficiencies. If you are looking to find the best online MBA programs in Canada, here we have some really good suggestions for you.

Laurentian University

The Faculty of Management in Laurentian University offers an online MBA program in Canada in multiple options. The MBA program at Laurentian University is specially designed for your fast-paced growth and prepare you for the challenges posed by the competitive business world. There are multiple MBA programs available including part-time, full-time, and others. The online MBA program is scheduled to start in September 2019 but the applications can be submitted. For other details and fee information, visit the official website of the university.

IONISX

This institution offers MBA Online Management of Digital Transformation – something that is exactly the true depiction of future and the opportunities coming our way. This online MBA program in Canada allows you to master the strategic challenges of this digital era and learn about the global transformation of the economy with complete in-depth knowledge of the business strategies and prepare yourself for taking the leading roles in companies. The duration of this program is around 18 months and the enrollment can be done online. For more details, visit the official website of the university. This institution also offers the MBA Online Management and Entrepreneurship which is a completely different program that focuses on innovation and business-tech.

Westford University College

The Westford University College offers an MBA program in Healthcare Management. Through this course, the students can receive dual certification which is quite valuable. These certifications include Postgraduate Advanced Diploma in Healthcare Management & Operations from Cambridge International Qualifications UK and a Master of Business Administration in Healthcare Management awarded by UCAM, Spain. It is a comprehensive degree that can help you start your career on a high note. Through the open enrollment model, students can get themselves enrolled in this degree. Other than this, there are other options available as well including full-time, part-time, and others in numerous specializations.

These are three of the best options for online MBA in Canada in 2019. These are not the only options. For Canadian students, there are options available other than Canadian Universities through which they can give a great direction to their careers and get this prestigious degree to secure valuable positions in top companies. No matter which institution you choose, make sure that it has accreditations so that your degree has global value.

Source: <http://newswire.net/newsroom/blog-post/00106707-best-online-mba-programs-in-canada-in-2019.html>