

Newswire: Hummingbird Studios, Helping Abused Women through Stained Glass

gibb75 February 15, 2010

Hummingbird Studios: Photographic artwork to inspire the spirit and refresh the soul. Beautiful, award-winning photographic prints. Easy on the eyes. Ideal for your home or office. And now for a great cause as well. For years Hummingbird Studios h...

Hummingbird Studios: Photographic artwork to inspire the spirit and refresh the soul. Beautiful, award-winning photographic prints. Easy on the eyes. Ideal for your home or office. And now for a great cause as well.

For years Hummingbird Studios has offered award-winning photographic artwork for home decor and gift giving. Now, Hummingbird Studios is helping abused women through stained glass.

Adversity has served Phyllis Walker well: this award-winning photographer took up the art after undergoing eye surgery in order to save a massive detached retina. As her talent and passion for photography grew, Phyllis formed her own one-woman business, Hummingbird Studios.

Hummingbird Studios has made a name for itself as a provider of quality photographic prints both nationally and abroad. And that fame has only served to underscore Walker's personal mission: to combine art, advocacy and entrepreneurship in order to help empower survivors of domestic violence who are transitioning forward with their lives. As Phyllis is active in domestic violence awareness and prevention programs in Georgia, a percentage of sales from matted (and optionally framed) Hummingbird Studios prints goes to a fund to help women who have been abused.

Now, Hummingbird Studios is helping abused women through stained glass as well. The "Stained Glass" gallery on the Hummingbird Studios web site consists of photographic details from sanctuary windows of historic churches in Georgia. A percentage of sales from these prints will be allocated to each church's community outreach program. The "Special Collection and Limited Edition" galleries feature some of Phyllis' larger-sized prints.

Beautiful, award-winning photographic prints from Hummingbird Studios. Reflecting the beauty and harmony of nature, our open-edition prints are available in your choice of ivory or black mats. Each piece is signed and dated by the photographer.

And now, Hummingbird Studios is Helping Abused Women through Stained glass.

Phyllis latest accomplishment is the creation of a specialty line entitled "Cathedral Lights" which presents a series of sanctuary stained glass prints made available to anyone with a passion for sacred art. A number of churches throughout the state of Georgia granted Phyllis permission to enter their sacred halls and capture the stained glass beauty within. A percentage of profits derived from sales of these prints will be contributed toward various ministries associated with each church.

Every time a beautiful photographic print is purchased, Hummingbird Studios gives something back to the community by supporting this very worthwhile cause.

So remember, Hummingbird Studios is Helping Abused Women through Stained glass and more.

The many accolades extended to Hummingbird Studios include a recent First Place, Second Place, and Honorable Mention at the "2000 Southeastern Flower Show" held in Atlanta.

Photographs that speak volumes.

The Hummingbird Studios portfolio showcases a variety of subjects that range from the simple to the spiritual including a wonderful selection of still life that includes subjects that speak volumes. The subject matter that speaks to Phyllis includes plants, flowers, butterflies, fireworks, and other images from nature.

Hummingbird Studios photographic prints - be they still life or stained glass - add balance and texture to the home or office. Ideal for single wall-placement or arrange several into a larger setting. Photographic artwork to inspire the spirit and refresh the soul. Beautiful, award-winning photographic prints. Easy on the eyes. Ideal for your home or office.

A Few Words About Size

- Conventional mat dimensions in 8x10 and 11x14 make frame selection a simple and budget-friendly process.

- Mat colors are available in ivory or black, to harmonize with general decorative schemes.

And Remember...

All in stock items are shipped within three business days of receipt of your order. For international shipping please contact Hummingbird Studios for shipping charges. Contact Phyllis via Hummingbird Studios with specific questions regarding individual and multiple orders.

Hummingbird Studios: Photographic artwork to inspire the spirit and refresh the soul. Beautiful, award-winning photographic prints. Easy on the eyes. Ideal for your home or office. And now for a great cause as well.