

Sliding Barn Door Hardware: Company Taking It From Outside to Inside

Jonathon Croften January 24, 2013

Newly Installed Sliding Door Hardware Kit from NW Artisan Hardware

Sliding Barn Door Hardware has long been a staple for outside sheds and of course barns, but one company has answered the call for the growing amount of people who want to bring that look inside. NW Artisan Hardware will be supplying different high quality and beautifully customized hardware products for sliding doors inspired by one owners Shed building company.

(Newsire.net – 24 January 2013) Woods Cross, UT -- Wright's Shed Co. is opening its newest online store or website NW Artisan Hardware that will be supplying different high quality and beautifully customized hardware products for sliding doors. The new store will be providing outstanding services, customization services and high quality and dependable products for hardware needs.

The company's opening promises to provide hardware shoppers for their barn door and sliding door hardware needs and create new trends in doors like what is shown in different makeover programs and HGTV. They make sure that they can provide the most current and reliable services for people in the hardware industry and make sure to provide satisfaction a well.

NW Artisan Hardware is a store/site that was created as a response for the increasing demands on modern and stylish sliding hardware materials for doors. The products of the site were initially used solely with different sheds as well as exterior for buildings. Wright's Shed Co. owners have decided to create a company that can provide outstanding services for all accommodated customers. The outstanding services that they are offering are accomplished with the use of complete customization as well as increase the inventory ensuring the dependability and the authenticity of every product that they are offering. Some of the products that they are providing are high quality hinges, sliding barn door, vintage barn doors and many more. They make sure that customers will have an easy time of choosing the hardware products that they need for their establishments and for their homes.

The opening of the NW Artisan Hardware was made to introduce the new company, its store and the products that are made ready for customers. With lots of people who need quality hardware materials, the company promises to provide everything that they need when it comes to modern hardware supplies.

NW Artisan Hardware is a new company that is known to provide everything that most construction and home builders' need to secure every sliding door that they are going to put up. It is located at Woods Cross Utah and can be reached by everyone anytime they need high quality hardware products for sliding doors.

For more information about the products that new site offers visit them at <http://www.nwartisanhardware.com>, send inquiries at info@nwartisanhardware.com or call them at 801-787-1949.

831 S. 625 W., Woods Cross, UT 84087