(Newswire.net -- March 26th, 2013) Burbank, CA -- According to the Employee Benefit Research Institute, close to 30% of Americans have no confidence in the amount of money they have saved to retire.

The financial world knows that retirement savings took an enormous plunge after the worldwide financial crisis. Having enough money in order to enjoy a happy life during retirement is a primary concern not only for the senior citizens themselves, but also for the financial solution providers on a global basis.

It is true that Americans struggle financially. According to Wall Street Journal these are the statistics that relate to retirement planning.

The retirement money problem is really obvious, and the Wall Street Journal reports the following statistics. Fifty-seven percent of American workers reported less than $25,000 in total household savings. These investments are excluding their private homes. The results from this Wall Street Journal study are very scary and financial media experts like Gerald Celente, Marc Faber, Jim Rogers, Marc Faber, Edward Griffin, Eric Sprott, and Peter Schiff are warning about the most dangerous financial risks that are currency debasement and runaway inflation.

Financial experts explain that the only true protection against a currency collapse like we have witnessed it during the last financial crisis is the investment into gold.

Thomas Kaplan, a gold investor who invested over $2 billion of his money in gold, tells people who are financially planning their retirement: "People view gold as emotional, but when they demythologize it, when they look at it for what it is and the opportunity it represents, they're going to say, 'We really should own some of that.' The question will then change to 'Where do we get the gold?'"

Some Historical Gold Nuggets

Gold has a very historical connotation and our history is full of gold stories and regardless of the country of origin. Perhaps our interest in gold has to do with the fact that gold is perceived as a common currency and in every country around the globe. Gold does not know boundaries. Our history states that gold coins have been minted since around 670 BC.

The whole gold story got started with King Gyges of Turkey. He minted gold coins for his own personal currency.

The Roman Legions were very apprehensive of gold coins, too. Julius Caesar was the first leader who issued gold coins as a payment for Roman Legion services.

The tune of gold soon changed for the Legionaries when the legions came to realize that their gold coins actually increased in value over time.

Today, we have bouillon gold coins. Bouillon gold coins have a face value that carries pretty much just a symbolic value. The true value of a gold bouillon, however, is the gold weight. The gold weight by content is important today. Gold has a fluctuating price on today's global gold trading places.

It is very logical that gold historically has been the currency of our choice. Today, gold represents the store of value.

On the other side, the government and our political systems are running printing presses to inject money into the economy. Experts agree that this is not the way to solve problems in the long run.

In fact this is a scenario for financial disaster and dilemma.

Smart investors do not buy into these cheap political tactics and rather invest into the historically tested and proven value of gold. The smart investors who invest into gold today do understand the logic of gold and know the truth about it: "Gold represents the store of value!"

Why So Many Americans Struggle Financially Today?

According to Carl Icahn, a well-known gold investor who buys gold from places like Regal Assets, there are many reasons why so many Americans struggle with retirement savings and pension plans.

One of the reasons is a better lifestyle and a higher life expectancy. Today people live longer and are healthier than a few decades ago. This extended life span makes it harder for workers to come up with more retirement savings

This is very concerning news. Americans are truly struggling financially and could be working much longer in order to secure their financial future and due to such poor financial circumstances.

People are very conscious and conservative with their money and savings in today's economy.

There are people with over $200,000 in their retirement savings accounts that feel very uncomfortable with this amount. They feel it is not enough to support themselves.

These future retirement problems could easily set back the US as a whole.

How A Savvy Investor Could Conquer These Financial Retirement Saving Problems With A Unique Investment Approach

According to Laura Ingraham, another gold investment expert, "a savvy financial investment solution is to invest in physical assets. A majority of savvy investors have already turned to the option of precious metals like gold, silver, platinum, and palladium."

Gold, for example, is an investment option that many investors see as a clever solution. The physical metal can hedge against a deteriorating economy. Gold and other precious metals are therefore a very solid investment option.

In an interview on the radio, Gerald Celente confirms: “The fact is that there are very tough times ahead of us. Counting on the government for a retirement money solution is not going to work.”

It is up to the individual consumer and investor to find his or her own unique approach that is going to make a difference for his or her personal financial situation and future.

Jim Rogers, who is a frequent guest on financial platforms like Smart Money and Market Watch, agrees that self-initiative, responsibility, consciousness, honesty, entrepreneurial spirit, and some financial analytical skills are going to be among the most critical characteristics that a new investor has to bring to the table in order to become successful with personal finances that includes retirement planning. Every investor should count on his or her own initiative in relation to personal financial planning. Counting on the government is a useless waste of time.

Gold is the perfect investment option for beginning investors who are starting to plan their personal financial future and their retirement.

Many financial experts see it as the smart solution. It is a solution that protects against an uncertain economy and it is a solid investment solution for individuals who financially struggle and who absolutely want to conquer their financial problems with a unique and smart approach that will give them a secure future and peace of mind.

What Other Customers Are Saying...

According to Mary Ann T., another Regal Assets customer who bought on the 13th February of 2013, Regal Assets is the real deal and she says: "SO GLAD I FOUND REGAL ASSETS! I knew with the economy and the U.S. dollar tanking, that I needed to protect my savings with gold and silver. Out of the several companies I had spoken with, Collin Plume at Regal Assets gave me the best education on what gold and silver coins I should buy. Not only was Collin extremely patient in explaining things, but when he wasn't available, there were always Christian and Adam around to answer my questions. They all make a great tag team the way they work together. I always felt that I was being taken care of. I also feel after checking around that their prices were very competitive, especially considering the top-notch service!" – [Mary Ann T.]
