Illness has long been a potential destroyer of vacation plans. Mark Twain experienced this on his long anticipated return to the Hawaiian Islands. A new Hilo health spa, Healing Oasis, used Biofield Analysis to find a solution for one lucky traveller.

(Newswire.net -- April 11, 2014) Hilo, HI -- World traveler, Samuel Clemens, best known by his pen name, Mark Twain, once wrote of the Kingdom of Hawaii:

"It is the only supremely delightful place on earth." (from his Letter to W. D.

Howells on October 26, 1881)

Hawaii Island has always been known as the Healing Island. When weather and health cooperate, Hawaii is a Paradise for tourists. But when the traveller is under the weather, inside or out, even Hawaii can become a Paradise Lost, as Twain discovered. When his health prevented him from going ashore to see his friends after 30 years away from his beloved islands, he penned:

"Dear Mr. Whitney: -- Your long-delayed letter has reached me today, and I was very glad to hear from you, and know that you are still hale and hearty -- which I am not; it exasperates me to have to say. I was perishing to get ashore at Honolulu, and talk to you all, and see your enchanted land again, and be welcomed and stirred up. But it was not to be, and I shall regret it a thousand years; for of course I shan't get another chance to see the islands again. At least, I am afraid I shan't, life is so uncertain now-a-days." (from "Letter from Mark Twain," reprinted in the Hawaiian Gazette on January 7, 1896)

Micah Pexa recently planned to show visiting friends from Japan and Belgium his parent's home island of Hawaii. Unfortunately, ill health, the same serial vacation killer lamented by Mark Twain struck at the most inopportune time.

The party booked a double room for all four travelers at Hilo's newest travel destination, the historic Riverbend House, which nestles next to the final waterfall of Hawaii's largest river, the Wailuku, which means "Raging Waters." Struck hard by a head cold, Micah would retreat from his mates to stay at his parent's home in Hilo, but not until taking advantage of the Sherlock Holmes-like health coaching that is part of the unique package at Riverbend House. The house is also home to Healing Oasis, which teaches its unique methods of Accelerated Self-Healing to students and clients around the globe.

After a brief 'first aid' session, Micah was sent home with the particular nutritional catalyst his body had responded to in the health spa's unique biocommunication laboratory. The lab tests clients through both electrophysiological methods on-site, and remotely via telecommunication methods of Biofield Analysis.

The next day, Micah wrote in the guest book, "Very surprised and amazed with the healing here. Came in with a pretty strong head cold, which usually takes at least 3 weeks to go away for me. Glen hooked me up to his machine and found some weaknesses and some medicine (NAC) to balance it (lymph system). I had been so miserable all day, but after taking this NAC, I woke up the next morning feeling almost completely better. Never gotten over a head cold so fast in my life. Saved my vacation. Mahalos, Glen! Not to mention that this is an awesome place to stay. The energy here is so mellow, warm, comfortable, and welcoming. Will recommend highly."

Biofield Analysis is the evaluation of the body's energy flow. "Biofield" is actually the term preferred by the National Institutes of Health to describe the body's biological energy field. See this NIH reference for more on the theory behind Biofield Analysis: Bioinformation within the biofield: beyond bioelectromagnetics.

The system of Biofield Analysis used at Healing Oasis was developed through 25 years of clinical research documenting both the electrical and the non-local bio-communication effects of thousands of natural products on human health. Measurements of electrical impedance on local participants are used to continuously calibrate the non-local information signals received from an increasing number of clients around the globe. Now that the system is becoming more popular, plans are underway to expand by training more health practitioners and health coaches.

Healing Oasis is Hilo, Hawaii's new health spa, owned by Susan 'Rae' Luscombe. In addition to both electronic and remote Biofield Analysis, Healing Oasis also features healing methods developed by NASA and the Russian space program to heal all health issues in space without the use of pharmaceuticals. The healing facility is headquartered at Riverbend House, a newly opened 4.6 star tourist destination nestled next to the final waterfall of Hawaii's largest river. It is a location with very special mana, being on the same block as the massive stone historically lifted by Kamehameha the Great to demonstrate his Kingship. It is the perfect destination for experiencing historic Hilo town on foot, as well as experiencing new methods of core healing.
