End of Tenancy Cleaning

Anyclean understand better than most that moving home may possibly be one of the most stressful things that any person or family has to go through. On top of the usual packing tasks and the many other things that need to be organised, those who rent have the added worry that comes with handing their current house back to their landlord.

Anyclean understand better than most that moving home may possibly be one of the most stressful things that any person or family has to go through. On top of the usual packing tasks and the many other things that need to be organised, those who rent have the added worry that comes with handing their current house back to their landlord. Nowadays the bond or deposit for a rental property is held and protected via the Tenancy Deposit Scheme which means that tenants are no longer at the mercy of landlords when it comes to getting their money back as an impartial party is able to intervene to deal with any concerns during the handover as far as the bond is concerned.

Anyclean are well aware that while the Tenancy Deposit Scheme is a much better way forward when it comes to ending a tenancy that it is still essential that the property is handed back over in top condition if the bond is to be returned. Anyclean offer a competitive end of tenancy cleaning service that will ensure that neither the landlord nor the TDS representative if involved will have any cause for comment in terms of cleanliness.

The Anyclean end of tenancy cleaning service starts at just £80+VAT for a studio flat and feedback from previous customers clearly suggests that those who have used the service are pleased with the work undertaken on their behalf and that they feel that the company provides an excellent service that is well worth the cost in terms of the quick return of the deposit and the reduction in worry, concern and extra work during the moving period.

Nick Vassilev the owner, founder and CEO of Anyclean says, “Our end of tenancy cleaning service involves experienced and well-trained staff entering your rental property and attending to all aspects of cleaning. This service not only enables clients to concentrate on their new home, getting unpacked and settled and dealing any issues in the new property unhindered by hours of cleaning; it also ensures that their bond is returned quickly and without fuss”.
