

Air Conditioning Repair Phoenix Company Offers HVAC Services at Unbeatable Prices

William Smith May 08, 2013

Air Conditioning Repair Phoenix Company - Boldt HVAC

Air Conditioning Repair in Phoenix is just one of those necessities, Those of us living in the Phoenix area are well aware of the summer temperatures, as they routinely top 100 degrees. As a result, having a functional HVAC system is mandatory, since dealing with that heat without one is extremely uncomfortable.

(Newswire.net -- May 8, 2013) Phoenix, AZ -- Those living in the Phoenix area are well aware of the summer temperatures, as they routinely top 100 degrees. As a result, having a functional HVAC system is mandatory, since dealing with that heat without one is extremely uncomfortable.

It is even a good idea to have the HVAC system working well in the winter, as surprisingly cold temperatures can make heating the house a necessity. If the temperature ever drops below freezing, residents will be glad that they kept their heating system in good shape.

To keep the HVAC system running smoothly, regular maintenance is required. It is not a good idea to put the repairs off until the last minutes because extreme temperatures can appear very suddenly in Phoenix.

Boldt HVAC & Repair is one such maintenance company that has an excellent service record and ensures that all types of HVAC systems work properly throughout the year.

Those who have trusted Boldt for their air conditioning repair Phoenix in the past know that the company offers emergency service 24 hours per day, seven days per week. Customers who run into a heating or cooling emergency can simply contact owner Philip Boldt to have this issue fixed immediately. In addition, the company is licensed, bonded and insured, so customers can rest easy when Boldt is on the job.

Boldt HVAC & Repairs also handles installs and provides free estimates on this service. Replacing or installing an air conditioner can be a great expense, especially when hiring an HVAC specialty company to handle it. Although many people choose to install these units themselves, this work is not guaranteed or insured.

As a result, any damage that is done to the house or unit comes out of pocket, which costs even more money than hiring a professional. Therefore, hiring Boldt can actually save customers money in the long run, especially since the prices are so competitive.

Boldt even offers free service calls on repairs and provides an upfront estimate before arrival. This prevents additional fees from increasing the cost of the service call, which saves the customer money overall.

Perhaps the main reason for choosing Boldt HVAC & Repair is the affordable pricing. These rates are some of the cheapest in the entire Phoenix area for the services offered. The company guarantees all of its workmanship 100 percent, so customers who run into problems can have the issue alleviated with one simple phone call.

The weather in Phoenix reaches such extremes that it is impossible to live in the region without climate control. Boldt HVAC & Repair provides the products and services that people in this area need, while keeping their prices reasonable.

For more information on the services offered by Boldt HVAC & Repair, visit the company's website at www.boldtair.com visit there youtube channel <http://youtu.be/5C7ABFIJXXI> or give them a call at 623-340-1881.

4801 W Wescott Dr

Glendale, AZ 85308

(623) 340-1881

www.boldtair.com

BoldtHVAC@gmail.com