(Newswire.net – May 10, 2013) Jamestown NC – Memory Cross has created an origami coloring card designed to teach children the plan of salvation using Scriptures from the Roman Road. Designed as a Sunday School craft project for elementary school kids it presents the Gospel in a way that is easy for children to understand.

The coloring card contains four panels that make an endless loop. This unique design captures the attention of children which means it is far more likely to be taken home and studied compared to a normal craft project. Kids will want to take a couple extra home to give to brothers and sisters which makes it a good outreach tract.

Compared to other Crafts for Sunday School the design is what makes this card stand out. Hollie had this to say: "Memory Cross has the most creative cards that I have ever seen . These are not just little books to read, but interactive and colorful ways to share the truth of Gods' glorious Word and Kingdom." Sandra Vosken says: "Absolutely the coolest thing! What a way to catch someone's attention and while they are studying how it's made - the Holy Spirit is quietly working on them! What a wonderful tool!"

The origami design is center of attention. Each card has four separate panels that are integrated into one card in such a way as they make an endless loop. Printed on premium 100lb uncoated cover they are designed so children can interact with them in several ways. Each Memory Cross Sunday School Craft card tells a Bible story which can be colored on by the children. The card breaks the story into four parts which makes it easier for children to learn and the unique design makes children want to fold it over and over again.

Besides Crafts for Sunday School the Roman Road: Pathway to life card has been used on mission trips and at Vacation Bible School. It is available in English and Spanish.
