Niche Pharmaceuticals Inc. provides a range of supplements, including MagTab SR magnesium. The need for adequate levels of the mineral is crucial for maximum health and wellness. The correct form of the bioavailable formula provides gentler effects on the stomach.

(Newswire.net -- August 13, 2013) Southlake, TX -- Niche Pharmaceuticals Inc and Steve Brandon are pleased to announce a website dedicated to explaining and promoting the health benefits of MagTabSR magnesium supplement. The product has an enhancement that makes a crucial difference in its effectiveness. The electrolyte included in the magnesium product adds to the available benefits. The formula is prepared in a way that is not irritating to the stomach. It releases over time so that the benefits are available over a longer period.

According to Steve Brandon, speaking for the Niche Pharmaceuticals Inc firm, "Adults who are deficient in this vital mineral are estimated to be approximately four of every five individuals. The reason for the deficiency can be chemotherapy medication, anti-rejection drugs and diuretics. The lack of the appropriate level of magnesium in the system leads to symptoms of deficiency."

"Since magnesium is a factor in many of the biochemical processes in the human body", he continues, "a deficiency may masquerade in many different ways. The person may appear to be suffering from diabetes, Celiac disease or Crohn's disease. The individual could be suffering from Lyme disease or hypertension. Migraine headaches is another symptom found with a deficiency of the mineral."

When the correct levels of the supplement are ensured through MagTab SR, insulin resistance and PMS symptoms disappear, as do cramps and menstrual migraines. A boost in the mineral can improve energy and eliminate painful aches. Those individuals who boost magnesium in this form feel better and many of the mysterious symptoms reverse or disappear.
