Already well-known as the premier luxury custom home builder in Arizona, Starwood Custom Homes reported signing 10 new build to suit contracts in the first four months of 2014. Even with the increased demand of homes by new clients, Starwood has an extensive inventory of Gilbert custom home lots and other building lots throughout the state.

Budget conscious homebuyers will find pre-priced custom home designs from Starwood. These homes offer buyers the features and functionality normally only available to people building their dream home from the design stage. Starwood offers a wide selection of home designs and building lots from which to choose. Because the homes are pre-priced, it simplifies the process and makes it easy for buyers.

"We started building homes in the Valley in 1979 with a commitment to offering all of our clients the latest innovations in architectural design and technology," according to a Starwood Homes spokesman. "Our management team offers our buyers more than 100 years of combined experience in the home-building industry in Arizona. We use that experience to give our clients the luxury home of their dreams at prices they can afford."

The home-building experience at Starwood focuses on the customer throughout the company's unique 10 step process. Beginning with the first meeting with the building team and continuing throughout the construction process, the professional builders at Starwood work to deliver a home that reflects the unique lifestyle of each customer.

The company prides itself on maintaining lasting relationships with the owners of the homes it builds. Homeowners learn that Starwood is there to ensure that each home it builds meets or exceeds customer expectations. At Starwood, customer service does not end with the delivery of the keys.

Starwood Custom Homes has created a network of artisans and contractors that allow it to deliver custom homes Gilbert, Phoenix and in other Arizona locations that match the lifestyle of the homeowner. The management of this family-owned business continues the Starwood legacy of making the custom home experience a pleasant and affordable reality for its clients.
