(NewsWire.net -- July 2, 2014) Tampa, Florida -- Make sure to keep regular tabs on the state of your jewelry. You need to constantly assess the condition of your pieces to catch any issues or damage early. It is best to catch them early because this is when you should get them fixed to avoid major or irreversible damage, or even losing the item.

The best thing you can do to care for your jewelry is to make sure it is properly insured, especially if it is highly valuable. This will protect your jewelry from theft, damage, and being lost. There are many ways you can insure your jewelry, and it is definitely worth looking into since no one wants to be left standing after suffering an unfortunate event.

Diamond Rings

Make sure to purchase jewelry that you can imagine yourself wearing everyday and won't make you feel out of place in your environment. Diamond rings, fancy sapphires and platinum jewelry are all beautiful, but are they practical for everyday life? Consider purchasing jewelry that isn't entirely high end for everyday shopping or work wear.

If you find that your diamond rings are getting caked up with dirt, lotion and daily grime, soak them overnight. You can purchase a cleaning solution or make your own using ammonia and water. By soaking the diamonds overnight, you allow the grime that has accumulated to soak off. The next morning, rinse the rings in warm water and pat them dry before wearing them again.

Engagement Rings

When purchasing diamond jewelry such as engagement rings, earrings, necklaces and bracelets, knowing the 4 C's of diamonds are important. The 4 C's include: Cut, Clarity, Color and Carat. Some jewelers also like to add a fifth C which is Certificate and it is the grading report on the quality of the diamonds in your piece of jewelry. Knowing the C's of diamonds will make you a more knowledgeable customer.

When soldering a wedding ring and an engagement ring together, make sure the jeweler polishes the rings. Engagement rings are often worn for some time before the wedding band is and it will look like the rings do not match if they are not polished to look new.

Diamonds have long been a popular addition to jewelry throughout the world. However, you don't have to purchase large solitaires, such as those in pendants, earrings, and engagement rings. A popular way to get the most for your money is to get several smaller stones set together to imitate a larger one.

Jewelry is an important part of our society and using the tips in this article, will assist you in making the right choices in the acquisition of jewelry. When you have decided to buy something special, it is always terrific to have a little advice in hand to make the right choices and find the perfect baubles for your collection or as a gift.
