Mr. Cotcamp has devoted significant time and resources to helping the DLC with its fundraising efforts. He now begins his term as vice-chair with hopes of further expanding the organization's membership and building new and stronger ties to Orange County, San Diego and Los Angeles businesses. "As a local business owner, I appreciate the opportunities that the Paul Merage School offers California business men and women," says Cotcamp. "My goal is to help our members and corporate partners invest, connect and grow their business relationships, while furthering the phenomenal growth of this world-class school."
