(Newswire.net -- October 16, 2014) Irvine, CA -- Skin Ritual has recently launched its 16 oz Unrefined Organic Shea Butter. Since the launch, Skin Ritual's organic shea butter has been getting rave reviews from those suffering from Dermatitis.

Dermatitis is a general term used to describe a disorder that involves red, itchy skin. Although not life-threatening, dermatitis can make one feel uncomfortable and self-conscious.

According to www.mayoclinic.org, the number one way to prevent dermatitis is through keeping your skin moisturized.

Some suggestions are to bathe less frequently with warm not hot water. Use only mild soaps. Dry yourself carefully by patting your skin dry. Keep your skin moisturized while your skin is damp, paying attention to your legs, arms, back and the sides of your body.

This is where Skin Ritual's unrefined shea butter organic can be of the biggest benefit. Due to the fact that Skin Ritual's shea butter is unrefined, it contains natural healing properties not found in chemically altered shea butter. One of the top qualities of unrefined shea butter is the moisturizing compounds that it contains. The moisturizers found in shea butter are the same moisturizers produced by the sebaceous glands in the skin.

"With dermatitis my skin was red and itchy, especially behind my knees. Using the shea butter relieved the redness and really hydrated my skin so it was no longer itching." says Mark, a satisfied customer.

"We have many customers that have dermatitis and love the results they get from using our organic shea butter. It gives them relief from itching and helps to get rid of the unwanted redness on their skin" says Eugene Suei, the founder of Skin Ritual.
