Burpless Fish Oil by Optimal Health Labs

Providing customers with premium quality health and weight loss products at the best possible prices, Optimal Health Labs is pleased to announce the release of their Burpless Omega-3 Fish Oil pills.

(Newswire.net -- November 22, 2014) Las Vegas, NV -- Optimal Health Labs in an effort to provide their customers with premium quality health and weight loss products at the best possible prices, is pleased to announce the release of their Burpless Omega-3 Fish Oil pills. The product contains a potent 600 mg DHA and 800 mg EPA per 2 gram serving, more than double the amount contained in lower quality fish oils.

Each bottle comes with 180 premium quality soft gels with enteric coating that prevents fishy burps while increasing absorption of the product. This amount works out to a 90-day or three month supply, considered to be an amazing value compared to similar products within the same price range.

Clinically shown to support heart, skin, joint and cognitive health, Omega-3 fatty acids are recommended to people with various lifestyles. Their benefits include lowering bad cholesterol, increasing good cholesterol levels, improving cardiovascular health and normalizing blood pressure levels, among others. Additionally, they are popular among users for reducing inflammation and improving the body's composition.

The Burpless fish oil from Optimal Health Labs has been warmly received by the buying public since its recent release on Amazon. Already, it has amassed a number of positive reviews and five star ratings from online shoppers.

"I've been taking these Optimal Omega-3 Fish Oil supplements for a little over a month now. In addition to enjoying the health benefits of an omega-3 supplement, there was no fishy aftertaste, and no fishy-smelling burps. Considering that the reason I stopped taking omega 3 supplements before was the fishy aftertaste, this has made a huge difference," said Ruby T. in a verified Amazon review.

Many other reviewers have expressed similar sentiments, with others also mentioning the fact that the Optimal Omega-3 burpless fish oil pills do not contain harmful toxins such as PCB and mercury which have been associated with fish and fish products.

In the event that users of its product are somehow not satisfied, Optimal Health Labs has backed up its burpless fill oil pills with a 90-day money back guarantee.
