The Windows are Blocked - NOW

Silver Linings Shabby Chic Boutique is opening it's doors this Saturday, December 13, at 10:00a.m. Lee Ann Kimbrell, co-owner, has spent a lifetime planning to offer home furnishing items of great beauty and efficacy to friends and strangers. This is it.

(Newswire.net -- December 11, 2014) Lakewood, CO -- Have you wondered what is behind the papered-over windows at Silver Linings Shabby Chic Boutique on Mississippi just west of Federal in Lakewood? This Saturday at 10:00am is your first chance to find out.

Lee Ann Kimbrell, co-owner, has devoted her life to working to help people make their homes more beautiful and efficient. She studied interior design in college. She spent decades working in the home improvement industry in a variety of disciplines. Her stints included flooring, kitchen remodeling, exterior improvements, etc.

Lee Ann and Brian (her husband and co-owner) have scoured the area for months, searching for just the right mix of inventory to offer at Silver Linings. New things. Old things. Really old things.

Ms. Kimbrell said: "Silver Linings Shabby Chic Boutique was created to repurpose home furnishings. Brian and I have always loved beautiful pieces of furniture and artwork. You will find both new and reclaimed items - small wares to provide the perfect finishing touch.

We like to think of the store as an imagination station: fabulous finds, at a fraction of the cost of new, with local artists involved in many of the items that have been hand painted."

Where else can you find such an eclectic mix? Silver Linings' website isn't complete, but you can get a flavor of what the Kimbrell's are offering at <http://SilverLiningsDenver.com>.

Are you looking for a major piece of furniture to complete your holiday decor (barn wood furniture {link} or just the right custom etched glassware {link})? Or a colorful scarf or hand-crafted jewelry for someone special? How about a decades old sled? Or a clutch wallet? Do you need to find a lovely journal or just the right greeting card?

Or maybe you would like just a hot cup of gourmet coffee or hot chocolate as you break away from the Belmar's of the world and find some peace and quiet to do a little quality Holiday gift shopping?

If you don't find what you are looking for... ask Lee Ann or Brian or one of their highly trained staff. There are lots more items waiting in the bullpen... hoping to find their way onto the showroom floor.

Delivery, of course, is included.

Don't let Silver Linings' tag line fool you. There is nothing shabby here. There is a lot of chic. And it definitely is a boutique.

Come in Saturday and look behind the paper-clad windows for yourself.

Silver Linings is open Tuesday - Friday from 10am until 6pm and weekends from 10am 'til 5pm.
