Houston, Texas --

Houston's number one business phone installation team for the past 28 years, Hooper Communications just got better with the launch of its new website.

"The new website's mobile-responsiveness has made it easier to communicate with existing and future clients while presenting our products and services in a much more user-friendly format," said President, Robert Hooper.

With an increasing number of people doing business on their mobile devices, the website is designed to continue and enhance the stellar services customers have come to expect from Hooper Communications.

Hooper Communications welcomes new and existing clients to experience the website for all of their business phone system needs and allow their phone system consultants to provide you with the best service in town

Join the close to 3,000 satisfied customers with more than 3,000 phone systems installed during 28 years of business.

"Hooper Communications has been a great partner to work with over the years. We trust their knowledge of the telecom industry. Their immediate response to any issues or questions gives our company 'Piece of Mind'... wrote Darrin Straughn, President of James Coney Island.

When you're looking for a truthful and direct manner of doing business, you're looking for Hooper Communications.

"We interviewed several vendors to replace our existing phone system. Hooper stood out because of their honest and straight forward approach. It's been a few years now using their service and I'm happy to say it was the right decision", wrote Hardman Signs, Clay Hardman, President.

Becoming a Hooper Communications satisfied customer is easy. The company will work with you to custom design a business phone system that is tailored to match the exact needs your business demands. No two versions of their phone systems will ever be the same.

The company's newly launched website is your portal to excellence in business phone system services.
