University Lock and Security of Tempe, Arizona has earned a rating of A+ by the Better Business Bureau.

(Newswire.net -- January 22, 2015) Tempe, AZ -- University Lock & Security, the one stop location for security systems and a longtime member of the Better Business Bureau, is pleased to announce that the company received the highest possible BBB rating. On January 9th, 2015, University Lock & Security achieved an A+ rating from the Better Business Bureau. The company has been a member of the Better Business Bureau since 2003 and an accredited member since 2009. In the past 12 years

University Lock & Security has maintained an impeccable record with zero complaints reported to the Better Business Bureau.

The Better Business Bureau is a longstanding consumer advocacy organization that holds members to a high standard when it comes to business operations. Over the years, the BBB has developed a comprehensive and thorough process for rating businesses. The traditional school grading system is used with an A+ rating being the highest possible and an F being the lowest rating, making it easy for consumers to understand the ratings.

There are several factors considered before giving a rating to a business. The first consideration is the length of time the company has been operating. University Lock & Security has a long reputation in the security system industry and has been in business since 1978. That's almost four decades of service. The BBB also looks at the number of complaints received. If there were complaints, BBB then investigates how the complaints were handled and what steps the company took to resolve the issues. Prior to rating a business, the Better Business Bureau ensures that there is enough background information about the business to give a fair and credible rating. In addition, the company must honor commitments and when required, be in compliance with all registration and licensing policies. Only companies with a high standard of integrity can receive an A+ rating.

Considering the standards of the Better Business Bureau and the extensive review and rating process used, customers can be assured that University Lock & Security is a superior choice for security solutions. The company's top of the line products include home alarm systems, access control systems, security cameras, locksmith services and safes.
