

Top Dog Supplement Provides Joint Relief for Arthritic Dogs During Cold Weather

M Marketing April 14, 2015

Among the products that have been lauded for helping to relieve arthritic pain during cold weather situations is Top Dog Nutraceuticals'™ new hip and joint supplement.

(Newswire.net -- April 14, 2015) Lake Mary, FL -- An inflammation of the joints, arthritis in both humans and animals often worsen during low temperature conditions. To combat the issue in dogs, a number of dog owners have turned to supplements to help protect the joints and relieve arthritic discomfort during cold weather.

Top Dog Nutraceuticals' new hip and joint supplement is available on giant shopping portal, Amazon, and has received a high number of favorable reviews and five star ratings from shoppers who expressed satisfaction with the results achieved.

With the sub-zero temperatures experienced in some parts of the country during the recent winter season, the product has been praised by several shoppers for helping to reduce the pain experienced by their dogs before and during the period. "The weather is starting to get cold here, and we all know that isn't good for arthritis. If my husband starts feeling it, I know my older dogs are as well. They love to eat this, and it seems to help. I have an older tiny Chihuahua, and a huge, great Pyrenees that [are] getting up there in age. I can see my little Oliver is more active and a lot less grumpy after having taken these for a while," said AK, a verified Amazon reviewer.

They include manganese, MSM, chondroitin and glucosamine, a combination which aids in the growth of healthy cartilage, reducing inflammation and friction between joints, along with boosting overall health. The product's formulation is also considered to be cost effective in that it eliminates the need for dog owners to purchase additional products to treat arthritic dogs, whether in cold weather or otherwise. In addition, the supplement works for both older and younger dogs.

Pet owners with dogs who experience discomfort from arthritis, especially during cold weather, may consider the hip and joint dog arthritis supplement. All purchases are backed by a money back guarantee.
