(Newswire.net -- April 21, 2015) Centerville, Utah -- Mr. Chem-Dry is providing a spring upholstery cleaning service that is different from other companies. Their service guarantees a deeper and healthier clean on upholstery fabrics. This level of deep and healthier clean is achieved with the help of the company's unique and innovative cleaning process.

Fabrics are available in different types. Each of these types has its unique need that must be met as part of the highest level of cleaning. They require special treatments and attention.

The same goes with the fabrics used on furniture. Like the rest of fabrics, fabrics on furniture also come with clothing labels wherein cleaning instructions are provided. However, it takes more than the cleaning instructions to achieve a deep and healthy clean for the upholstery.

For this to be achieved, an innovative cleaning process must be used. People may have no idea about this cleaning process. This spring upholstery cleaning process is now available for Centerville, Utah residents. The service is offered by Mr. Chem-Dry.

Mr. Chem-Dry's innovative spring upholstery cleaning process includes the use of CO2 with a non-toxic and environmentally-friendly solution. This process produces millions of sparkly fizzy bubbles. It has its benefits of quickly penetrating on the upholstery fiber. It also helps in dissolving grease, pet stains and dirt. The process also lifts allergens such as dust and dirt to the surface where they are completely removed.

The removal process does not leave any soapy residue that causes and attracts dirt to the upholstery. As a result, it prevents the fabric from becoming dirt again. This is a healthy cleaning method because it does not soak the upholstery in water and detergent. Soaking upholstery in water and detergent only forces dirt to get deeper into the fabric and padding develops into a breeding ground for bacteria and mold.

Mr. Dry-Chem is not only offering a deeper and healthier spring upholstery cleaning. They are also providing their customers with their Chem-Dry Brand Promise. This involves delighting customers with the fastest-drying and cleanest upholstery within the industry. The company is only using only the safest of products in the cleaning process.
