

A Look at the Most Popular Used Car Brands

L. White June 05, 2017

In today's market many consumers prefer to buy well-maintained used vehicles. Not all makes and models are created equal, so you'll want to do your homework whenever shopping for a used car.

(Newswire.net -- June 5, 2017) -- Purchasing a new car can be a tough decision for many. The large monthly payments, rigid insurance terms and general worry with owning something you have years left to pay on can all be stressful thoughts. Because of this, and a variety of other financial decisions, many people prefer to instead buy well-maintained used vehicles. Not all makes and models are created equal, meaning that you'll want to do your homework whenever shopping around for a used car. Since popularity often equates to reliability in the auto world, we've put together a list of the most popular used car brands for you to evaluate as part of your car hunt.

Chevrolet

Whether we look at the most popular vehicles by rating or take a look at used car dealers like www.grangermotors.com, Chevrolet is a classic American brand that continues to enjoy a massive market share. Whether you're shopping for a new or used car, you'll find many Chevrolet models on car lots. 4 of the 20 most popular vehicles on the used car market are from Chevrolet: the Malibu, the Camaro, the Silverado and the Impala. With decent fuel economy, high name recognition and decent holding value, many people understandably opt to go with a used Chevrolet.

Ford

Comprising 7 of the 20 most popular individual cars on the used car market, Ford's brand has staying power. The Ford F-150 is the most popular model in the brand's lineup, but also featured are classics such as the Focus, Mustang, Escape and Fusion. The great thing about the used Ford line-up is that there's something for everybody: whether you want an SUV, pickup truck, sports car or standard sedan, you'll have no trouble finding one of these on the used car market in good condition.

Honda

Long known as a reliable make, Honda used cars generally tend to hold their value. This can mean they're a bit more expensive than comparable vehicles on the used car market, but you'll be more likely to maintain a greater share of that value for the period you own it. Popular used Hondas include the CR-V, Accord and Civic – all of which have been around for more than two decades and are built on foundations that are well-tested and perfected. It's not uncommon to see Hondas still working flawlessly after 300,000 miles, making them a highly sought-after used vehicle selection.

Toyota

With 3 entries on the top 20 list, the Toyota line-up is more than its numbers would suggest. Consistently rated as one of the most reliable automobile manufacturers in the world, it's not surprising that many people seek out the Camry, Corolla and Highlander. With the most perfected engine in the world arguably, these vehicles are definitely in demand. Expect to pay more for a used Toyota than for many other models, but the investment is often worth it: Toyotas hold their value well and will continue running long past many other cars' expiration dates.

With so many options, it can be hard to choose. These are just a few of the most popular used cars out there – along with the reasons why – for you to consider. Leave us a comment below and let us know which make and model interests you the most.

Source: <http://newswire.net/newsroom/blog-post/00096628-a-look-at-the-most-popular-used-car-brands.html>