

Why Hardwood Floors Are Best Choice for Home Decors

Deep Wadhwa November 01, 2018

The prices of the wood differ according to the abundance of trees and end quality youâ€™d get.

Hardwood flooring comes with quality and gives your home a touch of class and warmth. Here are top reasons to give the positive aspects to incorporate this to your home or workplace.

(Newswire.net -- November 1, 2018) -- Imagine walking into an interior that has hardwood floors. You'd first watch your steps as they look so pristinely beautiful. The hardwood floors have become immensely popular for interior designing and for all good reasons. Apart from the natural beauty and durability, these are easy to install and let you learn carpentry without dirtying your hands!

Top Reasons to Choose Hardwood Flooring

If you have lesser ideas on why hardwood can be the best choice for a new home or office, check out the points below:

1. Versatile

You can literally take hardwood flooring anywhere. It is a great choice for living areas, dens, kitchens, and so on. Offices now love to choose lovely wooden tones that are perfect for Instagramming your new shoes! These are even engineered wooden flooring for basements and bathrooms, as these are water resistant too. Isn't it already time to get in touch with the wood flooring contractors and check out the options for your home? Keep reading ahead to know more!

2. Can bear it all

The hardwood floors can take up heavy flooring, so be it foot traffic or kid's toys, you don't need to worry. You can even have pets and protect the wood with sealers and protective coats. You simply need little maintenance and that saves you from sweeping and swabbing every day. Hardwood floors look anew for years and take years to wear off.

3. Quick maintenance

If you're absolutely tired of sweeping the floors every day, you must consider choosing a hardwood floor. It needs mild cleaners that are sold exclusively for such floors. You can vacuum out the dust and find the floors as good as new all the time.

4. Easy touchups

Hardwood is easily refinished and lasts until 5-7 times before a replacement. The lifespan can expand to around 100 years if you can maintain it well. Some well-engineered floors might need one refinishing and last for ages. If you tally the amount of money you'd spent on the hardwood, you'd realize that it gives back the value with time. Every other type of flooring needs replacement within 5-10 years, but wood lasts much longer.

5. Doesn't attract allergens

It is tough to find carpet flooring without allergens. These are one of the leading triggers of asthma and allergies. Hardwood doesn't trap dust or allergens or make breathing tough like the other options. You can easily clean these floors and even remove them for deep cleaning. For special occasions, you can uninstall the pieces, clean it thoroughly and place them back.

Hardwood flooring comes with quality and gives your home a touch of class and warmth. The top reasons give you all the positive aspects to incorporate this to your home or workplace. There are different types of hardwood floors that you can choose. The quality of the wood is one of the determining aspects in terms of longevity and price.

Types of Hardwood Floors

Know the two most common types of hardwood floors that you can consider choosing for your home:

1. Solid hardwood

Solid hardwood floor is the best option because it is pure wood and gives you the maximum benefits. These can be of any color depending on the time of wood you choose. The sturdier your option is the longer your flooring last. Make sure you invest in the right wood type and take suggestions before spending.

2. Engineered hardwood

Engineered hardwood is comprised of several layers of wood, combined together. These are well susceptible to moisture and prevent damage. They are also comparatively cheaper than solid hardwood.

Hardwood flooring comes in different colors because there are so many barks to choose from! Isn't it amazing that you don't just get brown or woody tones to choose from? Cherry, ash, hickory, maple, pine, birch, are some of the many options to choose from.

All of these have different color tones and give your interiors a unique appearance. The prices of the wood differ according to the abundance of trees and end quality you'd get. You must turn to the best hardwood contractor to offer support and quality service.

Source: <http://newswire.net/newsroom/blog-post/00105365-why-hardwood-floors-are-best-choice-for-home-decors.html>