How Metal Plaques are Produced?

Metal Plaques are produced using stainless steel or copper. The materials are treated using a particular chemical process to come up with numerous different textures and colors. To engrave letters, photos, and even logos, the company uses the CNC & Pantograph engraving pieces of machinery and other quality etching machine. The plaques to be displayed in places where it will be exposed to elements such as heat, rain, and more are given protective coating. You are guaranteed with the finest metal plaques for garden, shop, office, home, etc.

Plaques are not just made of metals. If you want to have something unorthodox, you could either have the wooden type. Just tell your trusted and professional plaque vendor what kind of plaque you want to have.
