

British Woman Goes Missing in Guatemala

Kate Spurdens March 12, 2019

A British woman has been reported missing after travelling in Guatemala

The 23-year-old has been travelling since September. Originally from Oxfordshire, she has been travelling around Mexico and California.

(Newswire.net -- March 12, 2019) -- A British woman has been reported missing after travelling in Guatemala.

She was reported missing on the 5th of March.

She was last seen the day before, she was staying in the area of San Pedro with her friend. Reports have stated that her personal belongings were not taken, and were left behind.

A statement has been released through the Lucie Blackman Trust, a charity that 'supports British Victims Overseas.' In the statement that has been released, Catherine Shaw's parents have stated that they are 'desperately worried' about her disappearance.

The parents further went on to state that her disappearance is 'unusual behaviour' and 'gives us great concern for her safety.'

The Lucie Blackman Trust have also released a statement, stating that the 'first few days are vitally important' when searching for a missing person, especially when searching for a missing person overseas.

Catherine Shaw has been described as being 170cm tall and of a slim build, with blonde hair, blue eyes and piercings in her lip, nose and ear.

About the Lucie Blackman Trust

The Lucie Blackman trust was set up after Lucie Blackman, from which the name of the charity comes from, went missing in Tokyo after Japan. Lucie was an air hostess, who at the time was working at a hostess bar in Tokyo.

The family searched for Lucie for months, but struggled with the difficulty of language barriers, red tape and the massive financial cost of trying to find someone in a country that was not their own.

Unfortunately, Lucie was eventually found deceased in a seaside cave in Japan.

What followed after was a painful legal process that took almost ten years, and the family vowed that no other family should have to experience the same stress and trauma that they did, and so the Lucie Blackman trust was set up in her honour.

Source: <http://newswire.net/newsroom/blog-post/00108404-british-woman-goes-missing-in-guatemala.html>