(Newswire.net -- September 29, 2013) Burlington, VT -- Edward Brown a Burlington, VT Marketing and PR Expert announces Vermont press release services available, Brown's marketing and pr services are also available anywhere around the world.

Brown better known as the Host of Internet Marketing Show also operates a full service online and offline marketing agency. They have recently expanded their services to include press release writing and distribution for businesses, organizations, and events. The press release service can be used to make a one-time public announcement as well as the more standard ongoing weekly and monthly services. "There are many ways to do a press release," says Edward Brown, Host of Internet Marketing Show. "It is more importantly, the techniques and systems we have put in place when we create press releases which make this into a cutting-edge marketing strategy. If getting a return on your investment is a priority, call us for a complimentary consultation." The sales and marketing strategist helps service-based corporations, consulting companies and small businesses attract more clients, business, and profits. Brown's other services also include generating more leads through websites, increasing online and offline visibility, and attracting media attention.

Brown continued on to say, "Clients are often amazed at the results obtained from combining these press releases with some of our other services. Many times small business owners have never issued a press release and often those who have used press releases previously believed the results were disappointing."

Brown then finished with the following statement, " This is what sets our services apart from others, we are experts in preparing press releases, search engine optimization, video, and social media. We focus on getting our materials to page one of Google, the other search engines, and social media platforms where they can be viewed by people interested in our clients products and services. Any business can benefit from the cutting-edge techniques we implement and using press releases alone is one powerful method of getting your message before your targeted audience quickly."

Edward Brown is Host of Internet Marketing Show, a #1 Best-Selling Co-Author of "The Art & Science of Success Vol III", a Public Speaker, and he takes pride in his ability to reach entrepreneurs around the world, assisting in teaching them how to use the latest cutting-edge marketing techniques to attract loyal followers, obtain more clients, and generate more sales according to materials found within his websites.

The agency's press release service includes professional content written for the clients' target audience. The Press Release is written and publishing or distribution is all done for you. Brown states, "The methods used to write the press release is really crucial to creating success, as well as, how and where you publish the release. This is why we obtain amazing results because we are experts at what we do, when it comes to marketing your business let us do the heavy lifting for you. Although we are a Vermont based press release service and marketing agency, we have the ability to work with clients around the globe."

Increased visibility is an important goal for most small businesses, but even large corporations need to attract new clients and maintain consumer retention. A long-term press release distribution strategy is an important marketing tool which can be used to capture the attention of customers, online viewers, and even local media, which may leads to more media coverage, or even an exclusive business interview. Just about any company has the ability to do at least one press release per month with newsworthy business updates. If you are curious about whether press releases may be beneficial to your business, organization, or event contact Edward Brown today.
