(Newswire.net – October 21, 2013) Winter Park, Florida – Residents of Central Florida are enjoying healthcare that brings the best of US healthcare and the best practices of India together. Dr. Dommeti's patients find a physician that has dedicated his life to the practice of medicine and care of his patients.

In the US less than 2% of doctors choose to be primary care physicians.

It is hard in the US for physicians to be a primary care physician. Medical school and other medical education costs leave doctors with large debts. Many doctors and medical practices, whether they want to or not have to focus on the business of medicine. This can mean that there is little time to spend on each patient. It takes a special doctor to dedicate himself to the practice of medicine as a primary care physician. Dr. Dommeti dedicates himself to caring for his patients with time, energy and wisdom from around the world.

Dr. Dommeti's medical education began in India.

In India he learned to come to each patient without preconceived ideas on what the diagnosis is or how the patient's treatment should be. He was taught to look, listen, touch and use all his senses with every person. He would draw on his experience, knowledge and intuition. He learned that is the first and major part of diagnosis and treatment. The noticeable thing is how technology is not the first thing done. Technology is used to confirm the diagnosis. In this way, the doctor/patient relationship is a key part of good health.

His philosophy on good health is not limited to the prevention and treatment of illness or injury.

Being healthy is much more than than the treatment of illness and injury. Chronic health issues are very prevalent especially in an aging population. Health is to be enjoyed at any age. A person with a healthy body, healthy mind in healthy relationships can live a happy full life. This philosophy comes out with every person he sees. The ancient wisdom of doctor patient enhanced by modern medical science, technology diagnosis and treatment is appreciated by his patients.

Dr. Dommeti describes his doctor patient consultation as

- The interview. Take time to talk with and listen to the patient
- Touch the patient
- Look at the patient
- Use all his senses to gather information on the person
- See the patient as a person having symptoms
- Diagnose based on experience, knowledge and intuition
- Use modern technology to confirm and enhance the diagnosis
- Treat each person individually using all resources and protocols
- Treat the person experiencing the illness and/or injury
- Treat the illness or injury as not separate from the person

To accomplish the above is not a 5 minute or 10 minutes process but a 45 to 50 minute consultation. The time spent is on every appointment not only the first. There is no substitute for personal time between the doctor and the person.

His resume is long and covers several continents.

He has over 25 years of experience in health care. He graduated his MBBS in Visakhapatnam, in Andhra Medical College in India. He later received his Diplomed in Anesthesia at King George Hospital. In Algeria, in Algerian Health ministry Hospitals, he worked as Anesthesiologist and intensivist.

He then came to the US and did Medical Residency in Internal Medicine and Geriatrics in Our Lady of Mercy Medical center, Bronx, NY which is affiliated to New York medical College, He became certified by the Board of Ambulatory and Urgent Care Medicine, USA.
