(Newswire.net -- April 28, 2014) Bournemouth, DORSET -- Victoria Beckham celebrated in style her 40th birthday in London with her former Spice Girls Melanie Chisholm, 40, Geri Halliwell, 41 and Emma Bunton, 38 with the exception of Melanie Brown.

Other guests included Chris Martin from coldplay, Guy Ritchie and his fiancée Jacqui Ainsley, Victoria's younger sister Louise, Gordon and Tana Ramsey to name a few.

Victoria wore a large emerald ring which may have been a birthday present from husband David. She was very elegant in a black pencil dress and chic shoes which had a killer blade shaped heel with a V-shaped front showing just the right amount of toe cleavage made by Italian brand Casadei.

In Los Angeles last week Victoria was celebrating her birthday with husband David and with sons Brooklyn, 15, Romeo, 11, and Cruz, nine, and daughter Harper, two.

On her popular twitter page she posted many pictures from her vacation along with a unique make-up free photo with David. She rose to fame with the all female group the Spice Girls where she was known as Posh Spice. The spice Girls had ten number one singles from their albums.

Victoria has achieved a higher level of recognition as an international style icon, rather than as a musician. Her career in fashion includes designing a line of jeans for Rock & Republic and later designing her own denim brand, dVb Style.

Beckham has brought out her own range of sunglasses and fragrance, titled Intimately Beckham, which has been released in the UK and the US. In association with the Japanese store Samantha Thavasa and Shiatzy Chen, she has produced a range of handbags and jewellery.

In addition, Beckham has released two best-selling books; one her autobiography, the other a fashion guide. Her stand against the fur industry has generated admiration from animal rights organizations, including PETA. Of PETA's numerous anti-fur campaigns, Beckham stated that she is "supportive of its high-profile anti-fur campaigns," and pledged "never to work with fur in any of her own fashion collections". In November 2011, Beckham was awarded the "Designer of the Year" gong at the annual British Fashion Awards.

Victoria Beckham has revealed the secret to her fashion success - she only makes clothes she wants to wear. She goes on to say that her primary aim when designing a new collection is to make women feel more powerful by creating clothing that will boost their confidence.

Many happy return to this very successful English businesswoman, fashion designer, model, singer, wife and mother.
