Members of the Beverly Grove community in Los Angeles and surrounding areas who do not clean up their dog's™ poop are being warned by frustrated resident known only as Annie.

(Newswire.net -- January 7, 2015) Clyde, North Carolina -- A frustrated resident in the Beverley Grove area vented her frustration with dog owners who refuse to clean up their dog's poop while walking them. The resident posted a sign at the front of her yard as a warning to all dog owners who are culprits.

To the astonishment of others, the resident warns all dog owners who allow their dogs to use her yard as a bathroom and leave the mess behind that she will retaliate somewhat equally. The angry letter signed off as "Annie" said, "The next time you let your dog poop on our lawn and don't pick it up, I will personally follow you back to your home, wait until you get inside, pull down my pants and take a huge dump on your door step and on the windshield of your car."

Dog owners who do not want to cross the paths of this frustrated resident are expected to be prepared while they walk their dogs. Poop bags provided by Bensie Boy via Amazon, provide pet owners with an easy and convenient way to clean up after their dog. The leak-proof bags are designed to mask the odor and sight of the poop which makes it less of a hindrance for owners to travel with.

The poop bags come as a set of 720 bags with a stylish dispenser that allows dog owners to be prepared to poop scoop while they walk their dog. "With our bulk poop bags, dog owners have no excuse to leave their dog's poop lying around. We designed them for your convenience and to make you comfortable while you clean up after your furry friend," said Brenda Kinder, CEO at Bensie Boy.
