

Meet Secret Millionaire James Malinchak

Chris Ryan September 07, 2015

The most important aspect of James Malinchak training program for clients is the “Big Money Speaker Boot Camp”

(Newswire.net -- September 7, 2015) --When James Malinchak says something, people automatically want to grab a chair and start taking notes. That’s because James Malinchak is the mastermind featured on the “Secret Millionaire.” Malinchak is an old hand at wealth building; he offers several entrepreneurial training programs for professional coaching and public speaking as a business. First, he makes certain that his clients understand that acquiring wealth isn’t a privileged perspective; but it does require a major shift in consciousness.

As a Success Coach James Malinchak inspires others to make a major shift in how they approach wealth building. For those interested in re-creating his success, James provides an instructional program with five different tiers:

- Tier I- Big Money Speaker Inner Circle
- Tier II-3% Club Mastermind
- Tier III- Platinum Coaching
- Tier IV-Millionaire Apprentice Program
- Tier V- VIP All-Access

Becoming a success coach is big business, and Malinchak takes novice entrepreneurs through everything such as developing a business plan, how to come up with marketing strategies and step-by-step guidance on building a personal brand. James also incorporates a series for clients who are already business owners, teaching them how to grow their business through public speaking.

The most important aspect of James Malinchak training program for clients is the “Big Money Speaker Boot Camp.” The Boot Camp is an accelerated course, which focuses on the fundamentals of becoming a dynamic speaker, the kind that big organizations pick to speak at college and universities, large conventions and other corporate events. In order to test his clients' desire to become successful business owners, Malinchak conducts a pre-event boot camp before the actual working camp sessions.

Budding success coaches go through a complete training program, which is different from the training for those with existing businesses. The underlying theme of both is creating income using the power of public speaking. And not just any type of public speaking, but how to become an in-demand, popular, sought-after speaker and business consultant.

Malinchak teaches his clients personally, he instructs them on developing their speaking abilities and learning to adapt their speaking topics slightly to adjust to changing world, which is critical to success. For example when speaking at college level events, there are people of diverse origins, with one main focus, educational pursuits. When speaking to youth and college students of all ages, it’s important to have them on the edge and leave them with a message to take home with them. James Malinchak is a Big Money Speaker who teaches clients how to gain the control and quality to duplicate his success. Not only is a speaker their own walking brand, but their voice is ultimately what is going to build their brand.

The Big Money Speaker Boot Camp develops public speaking abilities in the shortest amount of time. A number of the clients enrolled in Malinchak’s program are looking for ways to make cash fast. His instruction to them is to concentrate on one thing and not try to develop several things at once. Public speaking has always been in demand, and the speaker matters, people don’t just insist on any speaker for their functions, they want a speaker who fits their lifestyle and offers something meaningful, either a psychological or emotional uplift.

James Malinchak takes his clients from beginners to beginning a public speaking career. Their first cue in the Boot Camp is re-writing their back story so that it fits their brand, in a way that engages the audience. Malinchak calls this, “choosing your focus.” In addition to teaching his clients how to build their brand, he also offer several other outlets for making money along with the public speaking arena, these include: learning platform selling, hosting live events, webinars and seminars (online and in-person), creating informational products to sell for profit- CDs, DVDs, eBooks and print publications.

As a Success Coach featured on the nationally syndicated program, “Secret Millionaire,” James Malinchak Boot Camp program became a part of much larger mission, to teach others. His instructional program teaches clients how to associate their success as a public speaker with their back story, as the feel-good product for personal brand building. Secret Millionaire, James Malinchak gives budding entrepreneurs a prodigious amount of information.

Source: <http://newswire.net/newsroom/pr/00090230-jamesmalinchak.html>