Businesses which bought furniture, bedding, or carpet padding can claim money in a $151 Million class action lawsuit settlement.

(Newswire.net -- January 19, 2016) Los Angeles, California -- Businesses which bought furniture, bedding, or carpet padding between January 1999 and August 2015 can claim money in a $151 Million class action lawsuit settlement," says David Jones, Director of the Class Action Claims Center in Los Angeles, which helps businesses claim money in major cases. There is no cost or risk to file a claim, and businesses may get thousands, even tens of thousands of dollars (or more) depending on their purchases. No receipts are required to file. The simple forms only take a few minutes.

Businesses qualify for money if they bought any of these products which contain "flexible polyurethane foam":

- Upholstered furniture (for example, sofas or chairs with cushions, or throw pillows); or
- Bedding products (for example, mattresses, mattress toppers, or pillows); or
- Carpet padding (also called "underlay" or "cushion.")

Businesses qualify if they bought such products for their own use in any of these states, between January 1, 1999 and August 1, 2015: Alabama, Arizona, California, Colorado, Florida, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont, West Virginia, Wisconsin, or Washington, D.C. Claim forms and information are available free at www.PolyFoamRefund.com.

The huge payout stems from nine lawsuits charging price-fixing. "Major payouts will include businesses which bought a large volume of Poly Foam products, such as motels, hospitals, furniture rental companies, apartment and office buildings, and many others," said Jones. "Businesses can claim money for all purchases over the 16½ year period. And Poly Foam products typically wore out or were upgraded periodically," Jones added.

"The fund is $151 million and many qualifying businesses haven't filed," Jones warned. "That may mean even larger payments for each business that files in time." Jones emphasized, "There's no risk or cost to file a claim. And thousands of dollars is worth grabbing.
