(Newswire.net -- April 13, 2016) Ball Ground, Georgia -- Atlanta Piano Restorations, a family-owned and operated business that sells and restores pianos, has many used and restored Steinway pianos. Steinway is a prominent piano company that makes only high quality pianos. Their pianos have received many awards throughout the years.

Aside from Steinway, the company also offers grand, baby grand, console, and spinet pianos carrying brand names such as Yamaha, Baldwin, Kawai, Mason and Hamlin, and many more.

While [Atlanta Piano Restorations](http://Atlanta Piano Restorations.com) sells many piano brands, its specialty actually lies in the restoration, rebuilding, and refinishing of pianos. Located a few miles off of I-575, north of Canton, the company has served metro Atlanta and North Georgia for over 60 years now.

The entire rebuilding process is done in-house and Atlanta Piano (www.atlantapianorestorations.com) guarantees to add many more years to the life of the rebuilt piano. To start, the piano is completely taken down to its basic frame so a total rebuild can be done. All parts that need replacement will be replaced, while the rest will be repaired if necessary. The piano will be given a high quality durable finish that consists of 15 coats of hand sanded sealer. To get the desired final finish look, lacquer is then applied. Tuning will follow, and the piano will be tuned several times to hold pitch at A440. The case hardware is also cleaned and enhanced to look brand new. Final assembly will then take place. The rebuilt piano will look brand new and play for another 50-60 years.

Refinishing already comes with the rebuilding package, but it is also offered as a stand-alone service. All the piano's old finish is removed and repairs are done to the wood if necessary. Quality stain is applied, followed by multiple coats of hand sanded sealer until the pores of the wood are no longer visible. Several coats of a quality durable lacquer are applied as well, giving the piano a finish that will last for a long time.

Key restoration is offered as part of the rebuilding process. Atlanta Piano Restorations will improve the appearance of the keys, especially those of genuine ivory that have yellowed through the years. They can replace the genuine ivory keys as well. To learn more about their services, visit <http://www.atlantapianorestorations.com/services.php>.

The company can give a quote for their services if a few good pictures are emailed to them. A contract price will be given and they will then pick the piano up. They will return it once all the work is done.
