Less Pain More Gain LLC, an exciting continuing education start-up is set to disrupt the industry for healthcare providers. (Newswire.net -- December 18, 2017) Tampa, Florida -- Less Pain More Gain LLC, an exciting continuing education start-up is set to disrupt the industry for healthcare providers. It’s flagship course called the TrapEAZE Technique™ is set to soft launch in very early 2018 after being worked on for over a decade. The brainchild of Dr. Justin Mandel, DOM AP LAC, the TrapEAZE Technique™ offers a highly effective patent-pending solution for millions of patients who have experienced chronic upper back pain issues.

Until now, most common non-specific treatments simply fail to properly address the root cause of most patients upper back pain. But, the TrapEAZE Technique™ is the first branded healing modality to address the cause of the majority of patients who suffer from upper back pain.

What sets it apart from 99.9% of other continuing education courses is that it goes far beyond only offering premium coursework that practitioners cannot find anywhere else. According to an online poll taken on Facebook 82.9% of healthcare practitioners have a hard time marketing their new found skills to local patients after their coursework completes. With that in mind, the TrapEAZE Technique™ is set to completely revamp how practitioners can capture local upper back pain patients in 2018 and beyond.

Adrian J Abascal, L.Ac, the author of the Rapid Recovery Resource had this to say, “Many techniques learned in continuing education classes give the practitioner excellent skills, no doubt. However, this technique is the only one where the creators have set up a system to allow immediate application in the marketing of a clinic. I don’t feel like someone just taught me something new and said, “Glad you had fun, now good luck”. With this technique I get assistance with marketing. Personally, I’ve had trapezius pain, refractory to acupuncture, chiropractic, and physical therapy. Many others do as well, and the only option is painkillers. In an age where we face an opioid epidemic, I believe this technique will poise the private practitioner into success.”

Dr. Justin Mandel, DOM AP LAC the developer of the TrapEAZE Technique™ said this, “Most continuing education courses are created by a single caring practitioner seeking to positively effect their colleagues outcomes with their patients. But, the TrapEAZE Technique™ was developed on an order of magnitude that’s completely different than that. In order to successfully bring the TrapEAZE Technique™ to the marketplace we have assembled a team of over 10 total professionals from diverse backgrounds with completely different talents that all worked together with a single mind to accomplish the same common goal.

After getting the exceptionally positive feedback at this early stage of the game, there’s little doubt that the TrapEAZE Technique™ will set the new gold standard for courses that healthcare practitioners seek out in 2018 and beyond.”
