Email continues to be the medium of choice for marketers around the world. A consumer digital usage and behavior study reveals that email continues to be popular across demographics and devices - from teenagers to the elderly and from desktops to mobile devices. The study also revealed that 83 percent of consumers still use an email address to register mobile apps.

Swift Response Autoresponder helps small businesses improve visibility and manage automated lifecycle email marketing campaigns through a single dashboard. Agents and businesses can schedule email messages to be sent out based on business, seasonal, or user-defined events.

The email automation platform features user list segmentation for improved email targeting. The software gives users the option to create custom email triggers. A unified dashboard with event response, email open rate, and regional performance give users the power to tweak campaigns to meet specific business objectives, improve customer engagement, and drive conversions.

Swift Response Autoresponder supports more than 750 subscribers, unlimited campaigns, full automation capabilities, and unlimited email messaging. The software requires no investment in servers or other hardware and carries zero monthly fees.

According to a spokesperson for Swift Response Autoresponder, "Swift Response helps brands and businesses keep their readers engaged by delivering custom drip campaigns like welcome series, product launch series, customer onboarding sequence, or online email courses. We look forward to helping small businesses connect with ready-to-pay customers."

Swift Response Autoresponder has been developed by Amify Marketing and will launch at a front-end price of $50. More information is available at <https://muncheye.com/amify-digital-marketing-swift-response-pro-autoresponder> and at the URL above.
