Bucks County injury lawyers, Cordisco & Saile LLC, are now expanding by opening more offices to bring professional legal services closer to residents.

(Newswire.net -- June 11, 2019) -- Bucks County injury lawyers, Cordisco & Saile LLC, are happy to announce further expansion of their legal services across the county with plans to open a new office in Quakertown in 2019. The law firm is already well entrenched in most areas of the county and currently has offices in Bensalem, Newtown/Langhorne, Doylestown, and Bristol, Pennsylvania. The move to expand by opening new offices is aimed at making it easier and more convenient to meet clients with diverse personal injury needs.

With more than 30 years in the personal injury litigation and representation field, the attorneys have represented satisfied clients in diverse areas including car accidents, motorcycle accidents, truck accidents, slips and falls, dog bites, nursing home neglect, workers compensation, medical malpractice, and other personal injury related cases. They focus on telling their client's story to illustrate both financial and emotional effects of injury to claim deserving compensation. As a people-focused law firm, they have helped many clients with personal injury claims to get treatment and financial compensation for their injuries.

As a leading personal injury law firm in Bucks County, Cordisco & Saile LLC is founded on four pillars of service. They listen to their clients' story and understand all the underlying circumstances before developing a personal case strategy. The firm keeps their clients constantly updated with the progress of their cases. The firm is also founded on honesty and integrity and state that they always do what they say they will do. They also treat their clients like family.

The law firm is well known across Bucks County for their professional and thorough approach to personal injury claims. They not only focus on filing claims but talk to insurance companies on behalf of their clients, investigate the accident, collect the client's medical records, contact eyewitnesses, get expert opinions, and do everything needed to develop a successful personal injury claim.

"Serious injury cases vary in scope and circumstances," says the firm's founder, John F. Cordisco. "But our firm's lawyers are experienced and well prepared to help clients who have suffered injuries at the workplace, healthcare facility, or a road accident." The law firm has helped many clients file personal injury claims in Bensalem, Bristol, Newtown, and other areas in Bucks County, Philadelphia, and the entire state of Pennsylvania.

Bucks County residents seeking personalized case strategies for their personal injury claims will be glad to know that C&S is always at their service and is even bringing their services closer to the people. Their new office in Quakertown is expected to start operating later this year.

Everyone in the county and beyond can now get professional representation and personal injury compensation for damages suffered due to medical malpractice, poor or negligent in-home care, wages lost because of injury at the workplace, loss of benefits, loss of promotion, reduced earning capacity, emotional distress, and all the pain and suffering caused by the injury.

About Cordisco & Saile LLC - Personal Injury Law Firm

The Cordisco & Saile law firm is well known in Bucks County for providing a thorough and professional approach to help their clients get the best compensation for their personal injury cases. Their personal injury lawyers deal directly with the insurance companies on behalf of their clients to create a strong case to show the defendant's fault and liability for the injury.
